Introduction

From simple spheres to Active Spheres

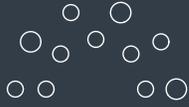

Trekfit is reinventing the spheres with versatile layouts and targeted movements that encourage teens to move, play, and interact within the park.

Offered in 11 configurations, they open the door to countless scenarios and combinations, allowing teens can gather and fully express their creativity. They encourage quick transitions, consecutive jumps, varied foot placements, and even hand-balancing exploration, creating engaging motor challenges that evolve with skill level.

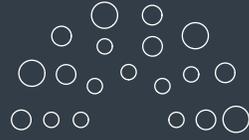

With a wide range of color options, the Active Spheres allow designers to shape the space, reinforce identity or integrate seamlessly into the surrounding landscape. A park classic with a purpose.

1. Inspiration

It all started with a simple EPDM sphere in a park. We climbed on it, balanced on it, sat on it and instantly saw its untapped potential.

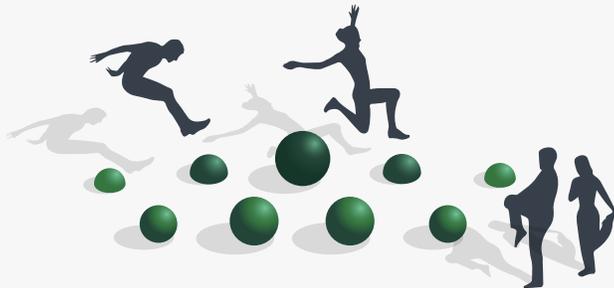

2. Exploration

What if one sphere became many? We began experimenting with different sizes, combining full and half spheres to unlock new possibilities.

3. Design

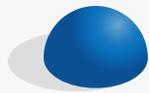

By arranging them into intentional layouts, we transformed a single element into dynamic configurations that encourage movement, balance, fitness, and play.

4. Impact

Today, with 11 configurations, Active Spheres create bold, engaging spaces designed specifically to challenge and energize teens.
